CLASSES OF 1993 & 1994
PLACEMENT GUIDE
FOR EMPLOYERS
Message From The Dean

During the last few years, the activities of our Placement Office have been expanded in order to serve the needs of both students and employers. One of the Placement Office’s important projects is the Placement Guide for Employers, better known as the “Facebook,” which includes both the second and third year classes. The faculty is proud to present to you the classes of 1993 and 1994. These men and women were admitted through a process that affirmatively and energetically seeks out the best students. As you will note from their resumes, they have diverse academic backgrounds and professional goals.

These students have been subjected to a rigorous and demanding course of study—both theoretical and practical. Each has been taught to think as a lawyer and to engage in effective oral and written expression. The guiding philosophy at Alabama for over 120 years has been that a sound legal education is the foundation for a successful legal career.

The University of Alabama School of Law has a fine, dynamic faculty. While they are committed to research and writing, their first order of priority is teaching. Their dedication and expertise, combined with their students’ hard work, have resulted in graduates who are prepared to become excellent lawyers.

The faculty, along with the placement staff, join me in cordially inviting you to make use of our placement facilities in order to talk with our fine students. Our goal is to meet the hiring needs of you, the employer, with our law students.

Respectfully,

Nathaniel Hansford
Dean and
William Alfred Rose Professor of Law
CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT PROGRAM

The Law Career Planning and Placement Office’s objective is to match the educational and experiential skills of law students with the particular hiring needs of employers. The program is designed to assist all students in their efforts to find employment, whether in traditional legal careers or in non-traditional areas.

The Placement Office is equipped with a resource library that includes a broad range of directories, books, how-to information and WestLaw and Lexis terminals. In addition, seminars are presented on resume writing, interviewing techniques, and job-search techniques. Special guest speakers, panel discussions and mock interviews are scheduled as part of the Career Planning/Placement Program.

Segal I. Friedman, Director,
Career Planning/Placement and Alumni Affairs.

RECRUITING PROGRAMS

On-Campus Interviewing offers employers a cost-effective and time-efficient means of interviewing highly qualified students in a convenient location during a concentrated time span. The smaller as well as the larger law firms benefit from this organized means of interviewing students and fulfilling hiring needs. As part of the placement activities, the military services are allowed to interview on campus.

Off-Campus Interviewing/Resume Forwarding provides employers who are unable to interview on campus a method of announcing positions available. The Placement Office will post the job description, collect resumes, and forward them to the employer. Employers also may elect to have the students contact them directly.

Alumni Placement provides employers who are seeking experienced attorneys the opportunity to list positions available with the Placement Office. The Placement Office also assists alumni who wish to relocate.

Southeastern Law Placement Consortium (SELP) is composed of eleven Southeastern law schools. Each October, law students and employers from throughout the nation meet in Atlanta, Georgia, to participate in the largest and most successful cooperative off-campus interviewing program for law firms in the United States.

Mid-South Law Placement Consortium is a spring recruiting conference held in Nashville, Tennessee, offering students the opportunity to interview with law firms in the mid-South area, which includes Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, and parts of Alabama, Georgia, and North and South Carolina.

Southeastern Law Schools Minority Job Fair is designed to provide Black, Hispanic, and other minority law students an opportunity to interview with employers nationwide. Students from thirty-eight law schools participate in this recruiting conference, held in August in Atlanta, Georgia.

Southeastern Public Interest Job Fair is a full recruiting conference held in Atlanta, Georgia, that provides students employment opportunities with public-interest law employers from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, and North and South Carolina.

National Public Interest Law Career Fair is a fall recruiting conference held in Washington, DC, that provides a unique opportunity for students and graduates to collect information and to interview with recruiters from government agencies, legal service offices, civil rights organizations, and consumer and environmental advocates, among others.

Nondiscrimination Policy

The University of Alabama School of Law is a member of the National Association for Law Placement (NALP). Our placement programs and school are committed to a policy against discrimination based on sex, race, color, religion, age, physical handicap or disability, national origin, or sexual orientation. The facilities and services of the Placement Office and Law School are available only to those employers who are in agreement with this policy. By using the Law School’s Placement services, employers assure the Law School that they observe this Policy or will otherwise contact the Placement Office.

STUDENT BODY PROFILE

The Law School normally graduates approximately 160-180 students a year. Total full-time enrollment for the 1991-92 school year was 555 students. We received 1,116 applications from 20 different states and 57 schools for the fall of 1991. The 1991-92 entering class had an average LSAT of about 37/48 and a UGPA of about 3.40/4.0. Approximately 35% of that class are women and 7% are minorities.

GRADING SYSTEM

A  =  4.0
B+ = 3.5
B  =  3.0
C+ = 2.5
C  =  2.0
D  =  1.0
F  =  0.0

Students are ranked in one of two sections until the final semester at which time they are ranked both in their section and overall.

EMPLOYMENT REPORT ON CLASS OF 1991

A survey reveals that over 85% of our Law School’s 1991 graduates have secured employment. This figure includes 56.69% in private practice, 3.82% with the government and 17.84% as judicial clerks. Students accepted employment in many areas of the country; 73.89% remained in Alabama, 19.74% moved out of state and the location of 6.37% is unknown. Of the students reporting salaries, 55.56% received beginning salaries in the $20,000 - $40,000 range, and 40.74% received salaries in the $40,000 - $60,000 range. But many students do not report their incomes.

Preliminary reports indicate that placement statistics for the Class of '92 will be an improvement over 1991. The legal employment market will steadily improve but at a slow pace.

GRADING STANDARDS

In 1990, the faculty adopted the following recommended, voluntary, hortatory norms and ranges for the distribution of grades:

LAW JOURNALS

There are four journals for which students are selected after completion of their first year.

Alabama Law Review: The top 10% of each of the two sections of the first year class are invited to join solely on the basis of their grades. In addition, the top 50% of the first year class may enter a writing competition to complete the Review’s selection process; the GPA and writing-competition score are equally weighted in this process.

The Journal of the Legal Profession: Membership is selected from among the top 20% of the class. This Journal is the nation’s first periodical exploring legal ethics and problems confronting the profession.

American Journal of Tax Policy: Open to students by application. The Journal is the official publication of the American College of Tax Counsel, an organization composed of distinguished tax lawyers.

Law and Psychology Review: This Review provides a forum for discussion of issues in the law and social science. There are approximately 500 permanent subscribers to this Review, which include academicians and practitioners in all fifty states and abroad.

MOOT COURT

John A. Campbell Moot Court Competition

Named in honor of a former United States Supreme Court Justice from Alabama, this competition is open to second-year students; the final round is held during Law Week before a prestigious panel of judges. This competition facilitates the selection of the Moot Court Board, an organization of students who help administer the moot court program during their third year. The competition also helps to designate the members of both the National Moot Court Team and the Jessup International Law Moot Court Team.

National Moot Court Team

Third-year students, selected for their outstanding ability in legal research, writing, and oral advocacy, compete in regional and national competitions on problems concerning constitutional and other federal law.

Jessup International Law Moot Court Team

This team is comprised of five outstanding third-year students who write briefs and act as oral advocates in hypothetical cases as if before the International Court of Justice.

The Frederick Douglass Moot Court Competition

Named in honor of Frederick Douglass, this important inter-law school appellate competition is sponsored annually by the National Black Law Students Association. It involves outstanding second- or third-year law students in moot court problems that emphasize civil rights.

TRIAL ADVOCACY PROGRAM

The Trial Advocacy Program provides elective courses that give students an opportunity to gain practical experience in the development and trial of cases. Practicing attorneys and judges teach small classes, judge trials, and critique student performances. Students compete to become team members. Student teams compete in three national competitions.

Dean Nathaniel Hansford presents The Honorable Jack Edwards, 1992 Commencement Speaker, a Law School Bench from Farrah Hall.

LAW SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The University of Alabama Law School Alumni Association is composed of all graduates of the Law School who actively affiliate with the Association through annual contributions. The Association holds an annual luncheon meeting for the Law School’s alumni and friends during the time of the Alabama State Bar Meeting.

Twala Michelle Grant ’92 receives second place, Henderson M. Somerville Award for Achievement in Legal Writing from Dean Hansford.

LAW ALUMNI AFFAIRS PROGRAM

The Law School maintains its own Alumni Affairs Office. This office serves the Law School’s approximately 5,000 alumni. The Director, Alyce Manley Spruell, maintains record information on alumni and assists alumni in scheduling activities, such as class reunions, setting up local chapters, and other related social events. The program also coordinates various alumni publications, including the Dean’s report, The Capstone Lawyer. The Alumni Affairs Program is responsible for annual giving activities, including events of the Farrah Law Society and the Law School Alumni Association. Information regarding law alumni is available at the Law Alumni Affairs Office, Box 870382, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487-0382 (205/348-5752).
